

Our school will be taking part in NSPCC Number Day on Friday 6th February. This will be an exciting, fun-filled day for the children to celebrate all things numbers.

Children may come to school dressed in number-themed outfits, such as football shirts, birthday badges, or anything with numbers on.

There is no obligation to donate, but any small donations towards the NSPCC would be greatly welcomed. There will be a collection bucket on the gates.

A special TTRS contest will take place during the day. Children can take part up until 7:30pm, so there will be plenty of opportunities to try and boost their score once they get home!

In the lead-up to the day, you may wish to support your child by playing number-themed games together, such as cards, dominoes, darts, or board games involving dice.

We hope this will be a successful day in encouraging children to see that numbers aren't just used in maths lessons!

Our school will be taking part in NSPCC Number Day on Friday 6th February. This will be an exciting, fun-filled day for the children to celebrate all things numbers.

Children may come to school dressed in number-themed outfits, such as football shirts, birthday badges, or anything with numbers on.

There is no obligation to donate, but any small donations towards the NSPCC would be greatly welcomed. There will be a collection bucket on the gates.

A special TTRS contest will take place during the day. Children can take part up until 7:30pm, so there will be plenty of opportunities to try and boost their score once they get home!

In the lead-up to the day, you may wish to support your child by playing number-themed games together, such as cards, dominoes, darts, or board games involving dice.

We hope this will be a successful day in encouraging children to see that numbers aren't just used in maths lessons!