October 2026

Dear Families,

Your child has shown an interest in Science at school and their teacher is impressed with their attitude and effort. As a school, we have been given the opportunity for some selected children to take part in a Space Camp at Northumbria University during the upcoming half term holiday.

STEM Ambassadors from Lockheed Martin are running the Space Camp for 4 days between 26th and 29th October. Students will be able to take part in fun, interactive workshops and meet a number of guest speakers to get them excited about the emerging space sector in the North East as well as learning new skills. There will be 30 children involved in the camp (6 from Broadway), all in year six from schools across our local area. As Broadway have taken part in this camp previously, we have been offered several places on a first come first served basis. Children who have participated before spoke very positively of the experience and would certainly recommend it. The camp is free for students and all costs are covered. Students will receive a POP card to use public transport to get to and from the event and breakfast/lunch will be provided on all days of the event.

Information Contact Forms will be sent out with your child today, if they would like to sign up, please return the forms as soon as possible. As this is an optional half term holiday event, our school has only been asked to share this information with you and it will be your responsibility to take the next steps. No Broadway staff will be present at the camp.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs H Giles
Science Lead
